

“Why is indoor air quality important?”

One of the most serious health problems facing people today is poor Indoor Air Quality (IAQ) and it can affect any indoor space. Even in small doses, air pollution can irritate respiratory conditions, trigger allergic reactions and accumulation over time within the body can lead to chronic illness or in the most severe cases cause death. Although it's impossible to control pollution outside, the quality of the air indoors can be managed. And since people spend approximately 90% of the time indoors, it is essential to understand IAQ and how to improve it.

“The guys from Dave's duct cleaning were EXCELLENT!! Couldn't ask for better service. They explained everything in detail and did a great job. Their prices are better than Sears and Direct Energy and they are accredited and certified NADCA (I don't think Sears and Direct Energy are). I would not hesitate to recommend this crew. Great job excellent people to work with and they really know what they are doing.”

I had my ducts cleaned 2 years ago by a company that was "approved" by Mike Holmes. I thought I was getting a good job until I kept having to change my expensive filter every few months. I called Dave's in and they showed me how my return ducts were never touched! Dave's showed my photos and explained exactly what they were going to do. They took their time to ensure a proper job and cleaned up afterwards. Now I am confident that ALL my ducts are cleaned. Beware of any of the professionals that advertise a whole house cleaning for $99 in 30 minutes. It can't be done in 30 min. Call Dave's Duct Cleaning! ... you will NOT regret calling them! Thanks, Julius and Shane! Sal from Toronto / Jan 23, 2013
